

ALLIANCE FOR BREAST CANCER POLICY

More than 4 million breast cancer survivors live in the United States.

Access to regular screening, early-stage detection and timely treatment at every stage of the breast cancer journey significantly reduces the impact of the disease — on patients, the health care system and society.

But for too many, affordable, high-quality care remains out of reach, highlighting the urgent need for solutions that address these gaps and improve outcomes for all.

For women across the country to receive diagnosis, treatment and the best possible health outcomes, federal policymakers need to prioritize access and affordability for patients at every stage of breast cancer.

Through its membership network, the coalition will advocate for patient-centered breast cancer policy, working to:

Support access to a timely diagnosis and needed treatments

Ensure affordable coverage for breast health services

Increase federal policymakers' focus on breast cancer

Coalition members will:

Collaborate on shared advocacy priorities

Engage in joint programming

Weigh in on breast cancer advocacy issues

Collective action is needed.

That's why Susan G. Komen is launching a coalition to unify the advocacy community to speak with a shared voice on access issues.
